Powerful Principles for Growth in the Body of Christ

LISTENING

SEEKING TO HEAR, HEEDING

Listening is "making a conscious effort to hear." It is "paying attention to" another person. Listening is foundational to good communication and a vital part of any close relationship. It involves paying attention to messages that others send – messages that may be sent in a variety of ways. Besides helping a relationship grow, there's another reason listening is so important: we learn when we listen.
